

Big sites:

Rooftack.nl (some of the properties listed as Free Sector here turned out to be Social Sector - you can usually tell if the price seems too low)

Pararius.nl (don't contact through the site. Just call whoever is offering the listing)

Funda.nl and Wonenmetactys.nl (overlaps a lot with Pararius and Rooftack)

<https://www.duwo.nl/en/home/> (this is the housing agency AMOLF works with. Maybe they can offer you anything else than AMOLF can). (Pre-)Registration required, potential wait list:

<https://www.room.nl/>

Smaller listings: most require registration, sometimes paid. also check for waiting lists! Please note that most of the times a quick reaction is necessary in order to be considered. Have your required documents at the ready and/or uploaded as well. Some websites will need to be translated to English.

<http://amsterdam.craigslist.org/> - choose amsterdam and housing; places being rented by their owners are here and a few by agencies too; contact via e-mail or phone

Elynx.nl - a small English-language forum that sometimes has postings from owners (long-term housing is under Notices on the left)

<https://nl.cameloteurope.com/woonruimtes> (if you are looking for really cheap housing)

For house sharing: 2peer.nl

When you just arrive, you may want to start with Airbnb or a hotel. Here's a list of hotels which can offer temporary registration:

- <https://www.roofz.eu/rooms>
- ID Aparthotel
- Holiday Inn Hoogoorddreef 66, Amsterdam South East
- Student Hotel
- Hotel Jansen
- Zoku hotel
- H tel
- Hotel 28 , Stadionplein 260

Most of these accommodation offers have waiting lists, so I'd suggest signing up as soon as possible if you are interested in renting at any of the above.

From my experience the above offer the biggest chance at success, but you can also look on:
